THE CANADIAN ELECTIONS.

Later Returns Somewhat Diminish the Liberal Success.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
OTTAWA, March 6.—Further returns from yesterday's elections only confirm the showings made by those received up to midnight. The Liberal gains are such that the Conservative majority in the House of Commons will be reduced from fifty-one to something like ten or fifteen.

Though this is not all that the Liberals had dared hope, it is a practical defeat for the Government, which causes much elation in Liberal ranks.

Their success was greater where the question of unrestricted reciprocity was untrammeled by other issues.

LATER.—Returns up to noon somewhat change the former appearance of affairs. The Conservatives will return to power short of one Cabinet Minister, namely, Coyle and Carling, while Foster, whose election was in doubt, seems now to have a small minority.

All three men are most uncompromising opponents of annexation.

The queer thing about Coyle is that his county adjoints that of Pope, also a strong Government man who was returned by the enormous majority of 1,000.

Both counties were, previous to this election, Conservative. That one Conservative candidate, and he a Cabinet Minister, should be beaten in the one county, and the private supporter of the Government, elected by at least 1,000 majority, in the other, can only be explained by the fact that Pope, although a hot party man, is a descendant of the New England settlers and looks with friendly eyes to closer relations with the United States.

The personal defeat of Carling, Minister of Agriculture, will be mourned by his colleagues less than the loss of his seat. Carling is not a vigorous or aggressive party man, and he has gone in the way of talking things too easily for a fighting politician. His defeat will be claimed as a triumph of the unrestricted reciprocity men, out strict truth compels the admission that his opponent was simply a much stronger man locally.

As to Foster, the Minister of Finance, he is one of the keenest, liveliest, most aggressive partisans of the day and ultra-strict. Up to noon the revised returns indicate a majority of 10 for the Government.

This indicates a loss of eight seats, which are gained by the Liberals, or 16 votes on a division. Returns are coming in very slowly.

The Way Sweet Woman Shops.
(From the Fashions of the Week.)
Mrs. Huggins (in an elevated car).
I don't think I was ever quite so tired in my life. I'm almost dead.
Mrs. Huggins—No and I. I really don't think I could possibly get up those stairs.
"Where have you been?"
"Oh shopping. And you?"
"Buy anything?"
"No, did you?"
"Yes." "Got to go to-morrow again?"
"No, have I?"
"Expert to buy anything?"
"No, did you?"
"No."

Getting Nervous.

Went—What is this town coming to, anyway, with all the safeguards of life and property crumbling beneath us?
Y—F—What in the world are you talking about?
W—Didn't you read about that pawn shop being robbed?

THE BISHOP'S BROTHER IN IT.

Architect Potter Denies that He Withdrew His Cathedral Plan.

Architect William A. Potter was very indignant this morning over the report that he and Mr. Robertson, his partner, had withdrawn their plans from the competition for the New Episcopal Cathedral, on account of his relationship with Bishop Potter, who is his brother. "We are not out of the race by any means," said Mr. Potter to an "Evening World" reporter this morning. "I wrote some time ago to Col. Auchmuty, asking for an extension of time to prepare a new set of drawings, and believe, of course, that the request would be granted. I was very much surprised to learn from the newspapers that we had withdrawn, for we had never given any intimation of such an intention to any member of the Committee of Trustees."

Col. Richard Auchmuty, the Secretary of the Architectural Committee, authorized the extension of time, and the competition would close on March 2.

Mr. Potter & Robertson wrote me on January 30 last that the time had been practically prohibitive, so far as they were concerned, and asked for an extension of time.

"I notified the four architects selected for the second competition, that the competition would close on March 2."

"When they wrote me on January 30 that the time had been practically prohibitive, I supposed that they were out of the competition."

Col. Auchmuty said that he had never stated to any one that the relationship between the architect and the Bishop was the reason for his withdrawal.

Cracked Two Wives in One Night.
SHEFFIELD, Pa., March 5. Three married men took possession of the Sheffield and Hoston Railway Depot last night, and while one covered the watchman with a pistol and another kept a lookout on the outside, the third blew open the safe, from which they secured nearly $400 in money. This occurred after 7 o'clock. About 2 this morning the safe in the office of the Sheffield and Hoston Railway was blown open. It is believed by the same men, and rifled of a small sum of money.

Fears for President Palmer.
CHICAGO, March 5.—Information was received from Detroit to-day that President Palmer, of the World's Fair, was slightly worried about the fact that there were fears his illness might result fatally. Dr. Thomas Weston, of the English Department of the Publicity Bureau, was suddenly stricken with pneumonia last night. Dr. Weston, a native of Chicago, was in the city for the purpose of seeing Col. Dickenson, Col. McKinnis and Secretary Phelps Cousins are convalescent.
